The registered nurse (RN) is a licensed health care professional with a dynamic and essential role on the health care team. RNs practice in a variety of settings; hospitals, clinics, emergency centers, long-term care, rehabilitation facilities, schools, correctional facilities and home health care agencies. Registered nurses care for patients throughout the lifespan, from birth through the end of life. Clark’s nursing program is located at Clark College at Washington State University Vancouver. State-of-the-art laboratories are used for teaching nursing students, including a simulation lab for creating life-like clinical situations for student assessment and response. This program is designed for students planning to transfer to a four-year institution to pursue a bachelor’s degree. This is a selective admissions program, a separate application is required.
