

Clark College Is Registering

Registration of both full-time and part-time students at Clark Junior college will continue through this week, according to an announcement today by M. J. Greenshields, director of admissions at Clark.

"Many prospective students are committed to complete jobs which will not be over until September 15," explains Greenshields. "In order to take care of this rather urgent need which many young people face, we will continue throughout the week to accept students whose reasons for late registrations are legitimate."

Full-time students are advised to register in the administration building on the Fourth Plain campus. Part-time students may register either on the Fourth Plain campus or at the new applied arts building, 1508 E. Reserve. Additional information may be secured from the registrar, Clark college.
