

CHERRIES FOR A JUBILEE

Steve Erickson of Vancouver takes an opportunity to get some sun Wednesday while studying among the flowering cherry trees on the Clark College campus. The trees are the focus of Clark's "Cherries Jubilee" this week. The celebration continues from noon to 1 p.m. Friday at the Andersen Plaza Fountain with music, refreshments and a walking tour of the trees. In 1990, John Kageyama, then-president of America Kotobuki, presented 100 Shirofugen cherry trees to Vancouver, and they were planted on the campus.
