

Clark hands out awards for January, February

The Clark College Les Schwab Student Athlete of the Month program announced its selections for January and February.

Clark basketball players Brooke Lowery, a Ridgefield alumna, and Garet Studer, a Battle Ground graduate, were the award-winners for January. Penguin hoopsters CeCe Nixon and Alex Mitchell were the women's and men's winners, respectively, for February.

Lowery, a 5-10 freshman forward, averaged about 8.5 points a game and led the team in rebounding at about 7.5 a game. She earned a 3.89 grade-point average fall term.

Studer, a sophomore wing, worked his way to significant playing time late in the season for the Penguins. He has a 2.79 GPA.

Nixon, a 5-7 freshman forward from Naches Valley, recovered from a knee injury to help Clark. She owns a 2.53 GPA.

Mitchell, a 6-3 freshman wing out of Portland's Grant High, averaged better than five points and two rebounds for the Penguins. His GPA is 3.75.