

Local musicians earn honors at jazz fest

The Columbian

Local jazz bands and vocalists took honors in this weekend's Clark College Jazz Festival.

Terinda Ticket of Camas, Erick Bay of Battle Ground, Scott Bay of Battle Ground, Jeremy Barrett of Vancouver and Rachael Fair of Woodland won outstanding vocal musician

In the jazz band category, Evergreen High School won third place in the 4A schools division. Washougal High School took third among 2A schools, and Woodland placed second in Division A.

Carolyn Chaparro of Prairie High School and Amanda Reynolds of Kelso High School received outstanding instrumental musician recognition.

Local high schools swept the Division 3A vocal jazz category, with Battle Ground, Prairie, and Camas high schools finishing first, second and third, respectively.

Seattle's Garfield High School took the festival sweepstakes award.
