Clark College hosts women's conference

Evoking the spirit of the 1995 international women's conference held in China, the 10th annual Clark College Women's Conference is set from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

Workshop topics include images of women in developing countries, the status of women in art and messages the media send to children.

The event will be held in Gaiser Hall.

The Clark College conference was founded, in part, by local women who attended the United Nations Fourth World Conference on Women near Beijing and vowed to continue its work when they returned home.

The $15 general admission includes continental breakfast, lunch and a snack. Tickets are $10 for students and senior citizens. Registration is recommended; child care, some scholarships and disability accommodations are available by prior arrangement.
