

BARBARA CHEN

CFO of Clark College Foundation receives CTFA designation

Barbara Chen, Chief Financial Officer of the Clark College Foundation, has received the Certified Trust and Financial Advisor designation from the Institute of Certified Bankers. Chen has served the Foundation since 2000, starting out as accounting manager before assuming the role of Chief Financial Officer in 2005. She received her bachelor's degree in public administration from the University of Oregon in 1984.