

Clark women beat Highline

The Columbian

The Clark College women's basketball team put together a solid offensive game to earn a 66-57 win over Highline on Saturday at Des Moines.

Renee Tzeo led the Penguins (5-5, 2-1 NWAACC West) with 18 points, Michelle Marthini had 13 points and 13 rebounds, and Chelsea Dyson also had 13 points.

"Offensively we came together, and defensively we really made the key stops when Highline made a run," Clark coach Nancy Boone said.

Clark led by as much as 54-44, but maintained its advantage thanks to a 45-40 rebounding edged and shooting 70 percent from the free-throw line.

Highline men 56, Clark 47 — Poor shooting doomed the Penguins (4-7, 2-1) as they suffered their first division loss.

Clark shot just 28.8 percent for the game. Ryan Anderson led the Penguins with 11 points and seven rebounds.

The Clark teams host South Puget Sound beginning at 6 p.m. Wednesday.
