

Clark seeking Alumni Award nominations

What do Earth Day coordinator Denis Hayes, former Congressman Don Bonker, Daily Insider editor Tony Bacon, and Betty Mage, past president of the Community College Trustees Association, have in common? They are all past recipients of the Clark College Outstanding Alumni Award. The college is now seeking nominations for the person who will join that distinguished list of honorees this year.

The Clark College Alumni Association is now accepting nominations for the 2009 Clark College Outstanding Alumni Award. The award recipient will be honored at the 2009 Clark College Alumni Student Dinner in May. The dinner is one of the signature events of Clark College's yearlong 75th anniversary celebration.

Nominees for the awards must have attended Clark College for a minimum of one year. In addition, they must have provided: 1) exceptional service(s) to the college through alumni activities, volunteer work, financial support or college employment; 2) exemplary service to the community, or 3) outstanding personal or professional achievements.

Nominations are being accepted through April 3 for the 2009 Outstanding Alumni Award. Application forms are available at www.clarkcollegefoundation.org/award. To receive a printed form, call Rachel Stansbury at the Clark College Foundation at 360-992-2271.
