

Environmental Health and Safety

August 7, 2015

Unsure of what to do with your excess paint? Oil based paints are considered hazardous household waste (HHW) and should not be thrown out with the garbage. Instead, it should be taken to a collection site to be properly disposed of. Latex based paints are recyclable and can even be donated to some organizations such as Habitat for Humanity. Be sure to recycle paints and paint cans whenever available and properly dispose of HHW.

Resources

Clark County Recycling A-Z

How To Recycle Paint

Where To Recycle:

Central Transfer And Recycling Center

Habitat for Humanity ReStore

Miller Paint

North County Hardware & Supply Inc.

Rodda Paint

Satellite Collection Events

Washougal Transfer Station

West Van Materials Recovery Center

Created by Kara Meredith

Sustainable is Attainable:
Promote Green Education and Practices