Colleagues,

It is official – we will GoLive in PeopleSoft on October 28, 2019! The Washington State Board for Community and Technical Colleges' ctcLink Steering Committee unanimously approved Clark College's recommendation to GoLive.

I appreciate the work you have done and will do over the next two months. Thank you.

It is now time to start communicating with students about the new and improved myClark (the place where students can view their student information) and how it will affect them. Students will receive regular messages in a variety of mediums (e.g., email, Penguin Digest, social media, electronic reader boards, fliers, and more). The first message will go out today to announce the new and improved myClark. Here is a sample of the message going out to students:

Hello, Students!

We are excited to announce a new and improved myClark beginning October 31, 2019!

The myClark improvements will make the way you access your Clark information more user-friendly, more comprehensive, and more connected to the college community, such as registering for classes and see your progress toward completing your degree.

Each week, you'll receive updates about the improvements both through email and in the Penguin Digest. Please be on the lookout for a list of important dates, added features, and explanations of how to access registration, scheduling, grades, and much, much more!

We know that some of you require the use of assistive technologies to access myClark. We are creating documentation to describe how assistive technology works with the new myClark. We will schedule open labs for students to come get assistance with understanding this new system.

We look forward to making sure that myClark is a rewarding and meaningful part of your Clark College experience!

In 32 days, we will see the benefits of all our hard work!
