FOCUS ON THE FUTURE: VANCOUVER'S 2008 STATE OF THE CITY ADDRESS

Clark College was well represented at Vancouver's 2008 State of the City address. Clark communications instructor Deena Bisig served as emcee, an honor she received as the 2007 George C. Marshall Public Leadership Award winner. President Bob Knight, Board of Trustees Chair Rhona Sen Hoss, Vice President of Student Affairs Dr. Rachel Ruiz, Executive Dean of Planning and Advancement Candy Bennett and Executive Director of Communications and Marketing Barbara Kerr attended the event, which was held on Feb. 28 at the Hilton Vancouver Convention Center.

In his remarks, Vancouver Mayor Royce Pollard alluded to Clark College as "the best community college in the Pacific Northwest" and praised the region's "impressive higher education facilities."

The mayor chose a theme of "focus on the future" and discussed areas including the Columbia River Crossing project, additional development along the city's waterfront, countywide and regional partnerships, and sustainability.

The mayor said, "I am not just talking about environmental sustainability. Sustainability is about meeting the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their needs. Given that, everything we do today must be with a consideration of sustaining our activities and our quality of life into the long-term future." ■

Annual Professional-Technical Day draws prospective students to Clark College

More than 325 high school students representing 13 area high schools converged on Clark College's main campus on Friday, Feb. 29 as part of the college's 11th annual Professional-Technical Day.

Students traveled from near (Hudson's Bay High School) and far (Stevenson) – including a student from Portland's Grant High School – to learn about the variety of professional and technical programs offered by Clark. Dean of Business and Technology Ted Kotsakis welcomed the students and encouraged them to take advantage of the day, to learn and to ask questions. He also encouraged them to define success as whatever will make them happy – and to continue to pursue education beyond high school.

More than 325 students representing 13 area high schools converged on Clark College's main campus for Professional-Technical Day on Feb. 29.

Students were able to hear presentations and demonstrations from two professional or technical programs during the event. Faculty and advisors were on hand to lead the sessions, allowing students the opportunity to ask questions and get a first-hand look at programs as diverse as Automotive Technology, Paralegal Studies, Early Childhood Education, Culinary Arts and Engineering.

Career counselors – including Suzie Downs (left) of Camas High school and Chris Erdman (right) of Skyview High School – appreciate the opportunity afforded by the day's events. "[Professional-Technical Day is] another way to expose kids to other ways of getting an education," Downs said.

Annual Professional-Technical Day draws prospective students to Clark College

“This [Professional-Technical Day] program is very important because most high school students – especially seniors – think of [Clark’s] transfer programs for staying local, saving money and, later, going to university,” said Chris Erdman, career counselor at Skyview High School. “We have a more broad economy that needs training and education – some requiring a bachelor or master’s degree, some not – so this is the perfect event for students to see what these programs are like.”

A hospitality room for teachers, counselors and career center specialists was hosted by Sheryl Anderson, director of Admissions and Assessment, providing them the opportunity to learn more about programs available at Clark College – and for college staff to continue to build relationships with the schools in attendance. ■

First-year dental hygiene students achieve training milestone

Clark College's Dental Hygiene department held its annual pinning ceremony in honor of the accomplishments of first-year students on Wednesday, Feb. 20, 2008.

The pinning ceremony represents the point in students' education when they have developed clinical skills in order to be considered safe beginners. They have also just completed and passed the "Ethics and the Profession" dental hygiene course, which introduced them to basic ethical principles, ethical problem solving methods, the Code of Ethics of the American Dental Hygienist Association, and Washington state laws applicable to the practice of dental hygiene.

These students are now ready to begin treating patients from the community in our clinic under the supervision of dental hygiene faculty. This is a major accomplishment as our class of 2009 continues their education journey toward becoming licensed dental professionals. ■

The dental hygiene program's pinning ceremony marks a milestone in the training of first-year students. This year's ceremony was held Feb. 20 in the Penguin Student Lounge.

With clinical skills and having completed a professional ethics course, first-year dental hygiene students are prepared to begin treating patients in Clark's dental hygiene clinic.

Student of Color luncheon touches lives

On Thursday, Feb. 21, the Office of Student Life and Multicultural Student Affairs presented the winter quarter Student of Color luncheon in the Penguin Student Lounge.

Students were greeted as they entered the luncheon. Carrie Weikel-Delaplane, director of Student Life and Multicultural Student Affairs, opened the luncheon with a warm welcome. Estancia Cota, a leader with the Multicultural Students Union Club, introduced Early Childhood Education Department Coordinator Debi Jenkins, who was the keynote speaker.

“Debi was amazing,” commented one student. “I liked that she kept it real and I like the fact that she cares and that she wants us to dream and live and do the best we can. I’m glad she is here at Clark. She will help a lot of people and will inspire us to keep going, moving forward to greater things.”

“I was impressed with Debi’s speech,” said another student. “Her observations about ‘noise in your life’ really struck a chord with what is going on in my life right now.” After Jenkins’ inspirational speech, students stood up and shared their experiences and hearts with the crowd.

The quarterly Student of Color luncheon is held three times each year at Clark College (fall, winter and spring) and, according to records, dates back to 1984. With each luncheon the event grows and touches an increasing number of students’ lives. ■

Spring into Action! at Clark College

Recently, Clark's Service Learning and Service and Leadership in the Community (SLIC) programs sent out a challenge to the college community: create an innovative, fun and memorable new name for a series of college-wide service events that will take place during spring quarter. The two programs joined forces to find a name that would reflect three very diverse events to include a hunger banquet, service expo and a community health fair.

There were many interesting ideas in the submissions – and coordinators appreciate the effort that went into creating all of them. Congratulations go to grand prize winner Treena Turner. Treena's submission, Spring into Action!, was selected by planning committee members from the 17 entries received during the contest, which ran from Jan. 14 – Feb. 1.

Clark student Treena Turner received the grand prize – a $50 Clark College Bookstore gift card – for submitting the winning name for the college's upcoming service events: Spring into Action!

Treena won a $50 gift card to the Clark College Bookstore for submitting the winning entry. For Treena, a work-study student in the Developmental Education Department and single mother of three, the gift card will come in handy. "There are so many things I can use the gift card for," she said. "So far I have bought a t-shirt to represent Clark when I am facilitating the gym here on campus – keeping healthy." She continues, "I am extremely excited. It feels good to be a part of something that matters and truly makes an impact. No matter who you are or what you have – or don't have – you can make a difference in someone's life by making positive choices and keeping a positive attitude." Having provided the winning name for the events, Treena plans to be among the participants as well. "I will be there for the service events in [the] spring," she said. "I am looking forward to it and spreading the word to whomever will listen – and then some."

Spring into Action! at Clark College

Honorable mentions go out to the following individuals for their name submissions:

Community Learning Project, submitted by Beverly Brosius, Safety & Security

STRIVE: Live, Serve, Thrive, submitted by Kimberly Russell, ESL instructor

Spring into Service!, submitted by Scott Coffee, eLearning

GO → DO → LEARN!, submitted by Veronica Brock, Health & Physical Education

Penguin Service: Clark Cares, submitted by Ted Broussard, Dean of Student Success & Retention

Naming contest entrants remained anonymous during the selection process and the winners were determined through a fair practice by the planning committee. The naming contest was open to all members of the college community, including students, faculty, staff and administrators.

Spring into Action! events at a glance:

Oxfam Hunger Banquet

Monday, May 12, 2008

12:00 p.m. – 1:00 p.m.

Gaiser Student Center

For some, banquet means lots of food. But for many, the only meal served is hunger. Feast or famine – it's the luck of the draw. An Oxfam Hunger Banquet is a banquet without much food. Each person attending is randomly assigned a role and will gain a new perspective about hunger and its root causes.

SLIC's Service Expo

Tuesday, May 13, 2008

12:30 p.m. – 1:30 p.m.

Penguin Student Lounge

Come and check out the Service and Leadership in the Community program's highlights of service. There will be a slideshow capturing the year's most memorable moments in community service as well as an overview of the accomplishments of the SLIC program. Highlights include the Fridays in the Community projects and the Habitat for Humanity Alternative Spring Break in Mt. Vernon.

Community Health Fair

Wednesday, May 14, 2008

10:00 a.m. – 2:00 p.m.

Gaiser Student Center, Penguin Student Lounge, PUB conference rooms

Join us for this great event and learn about health, wellness and fitness options in Clark County. Healthy cooking and fitness demonstrations will be conducted as well as various health screenings and information about local health-related resources. The Community Health Fair will be a college-wide service-learning event to offer an engaging, "hands-on" service project in effort to maximize involvement from the college community. This event will be interdisciplinary; faculty and students across all disciplines are encouraged to take part in the Community Health Fair.

To participate in the Hunger Banquet, please contact Tay Seidel, Service and Leadership in the Community coordinator, via e-mail: tseidel@clark.edu. For more information about how you or your class can get involved with the Community Health Fair, please contact Jody Shulnak, Service-Learning and Volunteer program manager, jshulnak@clark.edu or 992-2447. ■

Clark College launches Faculty Speaker Series highlighting academic excellence

The college will launch the new series on March 5, when English professor Joe Pitkin shares his Fulbright teaching exchange experience in the Republic of Hungary.

Clark College English professor Joe Pitkin will share his experience with the Fulbright teaching exchange program during the first event of the college's new Faculty Speaker Series. The event will be held Wednesday, March 5 at 8:15 a.m. in the Penguin Student Lounge.

On March 5, Clark College will launch its new Faculty Speaker Series with a discussion by English professor Joe Pitkin, who will share his Fulbright teaching exchange experience in the Republic of Hungary. Pitkin will discuss his experiences in Hungary and share the process by which faculty members can become part of the Fulbright teaching exchange. The event, which is free and open to the public, will be held from 8:15 a.m. to 9:45 a.m. in the Penguin Student Lounge.

The Faculty Speaker Series, established by Clark College with support from the Clark College Foundation, honors individual faculty members and celebrates academic excellence. Each fall, winter and spring quarter, the Faculty Speaker Series will showcase recent experiences that have enriched both the life and teaching of a Clark faculty member. Throughout the series, faculty members will share their developmental experiences with the college community – and members of the community at large – while addressing some of today's most intriguing issues.

Dr. Rassoul Dastmozd, Clark College Vice President of Instruction, said "The Clark College Faculty Speaker Series is a wonderful opportunity to share the expertise of our faculty members with our college and the greater community."

Clark College President Robert K. Knight noted, "Three years ago, our college established a Distinguished Lecture Series, drawing regionally and nationally renowned speakers to the college. This is the next step. I'm very proud that our Faculty Speaker Series continues that tradition by focusing on the talents and achievements of our own faculty."

The spring 2008 lecture will feature biology professor and acclaimed ecologist Kathleen Perillo. Perillo, who co-chaired the college's recent teach-in on global warming, will share her sabbatical journey through Switzerland, France and Mexico as she explores sustainability issues and their relationship to the United States. The spring 2008 lecture will be held on Friday, April 25 at noon in the college's Penguin Student Lounge. ■

COLLEGE-WIDE TASK FORCE ESTABLISHED, HOLDING FORUMS TO UPDATE STRATEGIC PLAN

In October 2003, 27 individuals representing the college and community began work on a five-year strategic plan that has guided Clark College since that time. As the college approaches its 75th anniversary, it is taking steps to update its strategic plan.

The Clark College Strategic Plan provides the path for the college as an institution. It provides the framework for planning and decision-making. It is a map for the future.

According to Clark College President Bob Knight, “We don’t believe that we will need to completely revise our strategic plan but this gives us an opportunity to review our mission, vision, mission imperatives and strategic priorities to be sure that they support our commitment to student success.”

A college-wide task force has been established to guide the process. The members are:

Sandra Woodward	Faculty
Veronica Brock	Faculty
Bob Jones	Faculty
John Jablonski	Adjunct Faculty
Vicki Cheng	Classified
Sabra Sand	Classified
Glen Jenewein	Exempt/ Administrative
Dan Overbay	Exempt/ Administrative
Kim Largen	Student
Jan Oliva	Foundation Board
Kim Peery	Trustee
Candy Bennett	Planning &
Advancement
Bob Knight	President

Following the first meeting of the task force on Feb. 22, President Knight noted that there had been “valuable discussion about simplifying the plan so that it is clear and, most of all, meaningful to each member of the college community.”

The next step is to hold college forums to solicit input. Three sessions have been scheduled:

Tuesday, March 4	3:00-4:30	PUB 258 B/C
Wednesday, March 5	10:30-Noon	PUB 258 B/C
Monday, March 10	1:30-3:00	PUB 258 B/C

Knight said he hopes that people who attend the forums will provide their thoughts on the current Strategic Plan and “what needs to be tweaked, changed, and/or eliminated.”

Additional forums will likely be scheduled for the college as well as for the community at large. Beginning in April, the Strategic Planning Task Force will meet every two weeks to review the comments from the forums and begin the work of updating the plan.

COLLEGE-WIDE TASK FORCE ESTABLISHED, HOLDING FORUMS TO UPDATE STRATEGIC PLAN

A new page has been added to the Clark College Web site: http://www.clark.edu/about_clark/StrategicPlan.php. It includes links to the college's 2004-2009 Strategic Plan as well as the 2007 update. It will also feature updates on progress in the weeks to come.

President Knight has expressed hope that the college can complete the process by the end of spring quarter. However, he emphasized, "If we're not comfortable that the college community has had the opportunity to provide feedback by that time, we will extend the process into fall quarter."

Knight added, "This is an important process that will guide the college over the next five years. It's an opportunity for every member of the college community to ensure that the results are meaningful to the college and the students we serve." ■

A CORRECTION...

SPRING BREAK HOURS

Clark College's Cannell Library will be closed March 22 through April 6. It will reopen at 7:00 a.m. on April 7, the first day of spring quarter classes. During the break, faculty and staff may gain admittance by calling 992-2504. To meet with a specific member of the library staff, please call ahead to ensure the individual is available.

RESERVE MATERIALS

Did you know you may place textbooks, course notes and sample exams on reserve at the library for student use? Items may be placed on reserve at any time during the quarter; however, only items submitted on or before April 2 will be ready for student use when classes begin April 7. Please allow three weekdays to process reserve materials.

To place items on course reserve:

Fill out the electronic Cannell Library course reserve form:

http://www.clark.edu/Library/Tech/course_reserve_login.html. Send reserve materials to Alyssa Hagen at mail stop LIB 112 or bring them to the library. Forms are also available from the checkout desk at the library. Contact Alyssa Hagen at ahagen@clark.edu or call 992-2553 for more information.

VIDEO BOOKING

The library has more than 1,500 videos and DVDs for classroom use which can be delivered to your mail stop. We encourage faculty to book videos well in advance to reduce scheduling conflicts. An online video booking form is available: http://www.clark.edu/Library/Tech/video_booking_request_login.html. Requests may also be submitted through e-mail (ahagen@clark.edu), college mail (LIB 112), U.S. mail and by phone (992-2553). ■

IMPORTANT PROCEDURES FOR THE USE OF VOLUNTEERS

To comply with Washington law, departments must ensure that all volunteers:

- 1.) Register in advance with Human Resources.
- 2.) Submit a time sheet to Payroll at the end of each month in which volunteer services are provided.
- 3.) Remember to include the budget number on each form.

These actions are necessary for coverage under industrial accident insurance and to drive college vehicles.

Volunteer registration must be renewed each fiscal year. Questions regarding the use of volunteers may be directed to Katrina Golder, ext. 2325, or Laura Elwood-Klein, ext. 2381.

ADMINISTRATIVE/EXEMPT EVALUATIONS

The administrative comprehensive evaluation process is underway for administrators and exempt staff listed below. The stated purposes of the administrative/exempt evaluation process are to:

- Assess how well an administrator/exempt staff member has met the strategic initiative goals.
- Provide for regular discussions about individual performance.
- Engage in a process of professional development which is designed to improve job performance.
- Provide recognition for a job well done.
- Ensure clarity and priority of college and departmental goals/objectives.

Administrative and exempt employees are evaluated annually with a comprehensive evaluation conducted every third year. A comprehensive evaluation includes a self-evaluation, input from raters (faculty, staff, students, peers, subordinates) identified by the supervisor, and the opportunity for all college employees to provide input to the employee’s supervisor, who will prepare the evaluation and review with the employee. The comprehensive evaluation prepared by the supervisor is placed in the employee file.

The following individuals are scheduled for comprehensive evaluations in 2008:

Employee:	Supervisor:
Sheryl Anderson	Alex Montoya
Candy Bennett	Bob Knight
Laurie Cornelius	Miles Jackson
David Daugherty	Phil Sheehan
Theresa Heaton	Phil Sheehan
Barbara Kerr	Bob Knight
Becky Merritt	Bill Van Dusen
Mark McLean	Ray Korpi
Alex Montoya	Rachel Ruiz
Cindi Olson	Rachel Ruiz
Dan Overbay	Sheryl Anderson
Ken Pacheco	Phil Sheehan
Jennifer Reeves	Sheryl Anderson
Phil Sheehan	Bob Knight
Sylvia Thornburg	Rassoul Dastmozd

FROM THE HR DEPARTMENT

All college employees are invited to provide written input to the designated supervisor by March 17, 2008. Input may be in the form of a memo or by utilizing the administrative evaluation forms (Sections II and III) available on the Intranet, Human Resources page at <http://intranet.clark.edu/forms/personnel/evaluation%20form.doc>

Input should be signed; the supervisor will consider all input and complete the evaluation forms utilizing all the information gathered. If you have any questions, please contact Katrina Golder, ext. 2325. ■
