

VANCOUVER

Dastmozd tapped to lead Minnesota college

Rassoul Dastmozd, Clark College's vice president of instruction since 2006, will become president of Saint Paul College in Minnesota.

Rassoul Dastmozd
College administrator
moving to Minnesota

Clark College issued a statement Monday saying that the Minnesota college's board of trustees would officially act on the recommendation on April 20. Dastmozd is to succeed the college's retiring president, Donovan Schwichtenberg.

Dastmozd is expected to report to Clark College through the end of the academic year as the college begins searching for a new vice president of instruction.