

People in business

■ Rekah Strong, Clark

County's chief diversity and inclusion officer, has been appointed to the Clark College Board of Trustees by Gov. Chris Gregoire. A Camas resident, Strong attended Clark College and transferred to Portland State University, where she earned a bachelor's degree in criminal justice and a master's degree in social work. She is pursuing a doctorate degree in social work at Portland State.