

Area schools, musicians get jazz fest nods

The Columbian

Several Clark County bands and musicians took awards at the 47th Annual Clark College Jazz Festival over the weekend.

Here are winners, according to the college's music department.

Thursday's vocal jazz winners:

King's Way Christian School: First place in the A Division.

Prairie High School: First place in the AA Division.

Battle Ground High School: First place in the AAA Division.

Skyview High School: Second place in the AAA Division.

Outstanding musician awards: Remi Skalisky of Battle Ground High School and Ryan Dawson of Hudson's Bay High School.

Friday's jazz ensemble winners:

Woodland High School: Second place in the A Division.

Hockinson High School: Third place in the AA Division.

Outstanding musician awards: Eric Price of Skyview High School, alto saxophone.

Saturday's jazz ensemble winners:

Union High School: third place in the AAA Division.

Mountain View High School: third place in the AAAA Division.

Outstanding musician awards: Kameron Wilson, lead trumpet, Mountain View High School. Spencer Stewart, bass player, Mountain View High School.

The 2009 Sweepstakes trophy was awarded to Roosevelt High School of Seattle.