

Clark men fall in Fresno consolation

The Clark College men's basketball team went 1-2 at the Fresno Tip-Off Classic, losing to City College of San Francisco 97-75 on Sunday in the consolation final of the eight-team tournament.

Clark coach Mike Arnold said CCSF, ranked No. 1 among junior colleges in California, was as good as advertised.

"We didn't play bad, but they are just huge," he said. "We just had turnovers at the wrong time and need to work on our transition defense."

Arnold praised the play of Skyview grad Blake Bowen, as well as Derek Owens.

Individual stats from the game were not available.

Clark opens at home on Tuesday against the Linfield JV. Tipoff is scheduled for 7 p.m.
