

S. Puget Sound sweeps Penguins

The Columbian

The Clark College men fell to 2-3 in the NWAACC West on Saturday, losing to South Puget Sound 102-96 at the O'Connell Center.

The Penguins (9-8, 2-3) led 46-44 at the half, but the Clippers (9-7, 4-1) got hot in the second, shooting 57.1 percent from the field and making 8-of-11 3-pointers.

Clark went 12 of 21 from the free-throw line and was outrebounded 44-28.

Michael DeRosier and Jonny Saryaz each hit five 3-pointers for the Clippers. DeRosier finished with 23 points and Saryaz had 18 points and 11 assists.

Tommy Allen led Clark with 22 points and eight rebounds, and Bryan Martin had 19 points, nine rebounds, eight assists and three steals.

South Puget Sound women 54, Clark 52 — Seventeen first-half turnovers doomed the Penguins in the NWAACC loss. The Penguins (5-7, 2-3) have dropped two games in a row and fell to fourth place in the standings.

The Clippers' Megan Sanders hit a 3-pointer with 10 seconds left to put them up by two. South Puget Sound (7-7, 4-1) opened the game with a 17-5 run, but Clark was able to chip away to come within two at the half.

Carrie Loveall and Kristina Wilson each had 12 points to lead the Penguins, who shot 31 percent from the field.
