

Appointments

Merrill Adams

Terry Aaron

Michelle Bagley

Bruce Baron

Crystal Cregger

Cheryl
Carpenter-Davis

Kimely Davis

Ann Garnsey-Harter

Judy Graves

Mike Jenkins

Steve Miller

Diane Nyhammer

Bill Osborn

Carol Paulk

Sue Rearic

Merrill Adams was named dean of science at San Juan College (New Mexico). Adams served as the interim dean for the past school year and will take over on a permanent basis July 1.

Terry Aaron was named director for continuing education services at the Tarrant County College's (Texas) Arlington Campus. Aaron will oversee development and implementation of noncredit continuing education courses.

Michelle Bagley is the new director of library services at Clark College (Washington). Bagley has more than 16 years of experience in management, customer service and leadership.

Bruce Baron is the new vice president of administrative services at Los Angeles City College (California). Baron has 30 years of experience in higher education administration, both at the university and community college levels.

Crystal Cregger was named Wytheville Community College's (Virginia) vice president of finance and administration. Cregger comes to the college from Roanoke City Public Schools, where she was director of capital and school activities funds and high school financial control.

Cheryl Carpenter-Davis is now dean of instruction at Metropolitan Community College-Kansas City (Missouri). Previously, Carpenter-Davis was associate dean of occupational and continuing education at the college's Blue River Campus. She will oversee academic leadership and strategic planning.

Kimely Davis is the new purchasing manager at Central Virginia Community College. She brings 20 years of experience to the position as a stores supervisor and buyer for a private company.

Ann Garnsey-Harter is the new director of distance education and outreach at North Idaho College. She has worked as the manager of distance and e-learning services at Shoreline Community College (Washington) since 2003.

Judy Graves is the new dean of enrollment management at Central Virginia Community College. Graves has served as the interim dean for the past year and has been an academic counselor at the college for 27 years.

Mike Jenkins is the new vice president of student development at Kilgore College (Texas). Jenkins has worked at the college since 1991 and previously served as its director of human resources.

Steve Miller was appointed the executive dean for career/workforce education at North Seattle Community College (Washington). Miller came to the college from Centralia College (Washington) where he was the dean of workforce education.

Diane Nyhammer was appointed vice president of academic affairs at Rock Valley College (Illinois), effective July 1. Nyhammer was most recently the executive dean of humanities, distance education and professional development at McHenry County College (Illinois).

Bill Osborn is coming out of retirement to serve as director of financial aid for Mohave Community College (Arizona). Osborn retired last year from his job as associate dean of student services and director of financial aid at the College of Eastern Utah, where he had worked for 20 years.

Carol Paulk is now dean of academic support at Savannah Technical College (Georgia). She will lead in supporting the college's academic activities, including the library, instructional technology, e-learning, evening operations and faculty development and community outreach efforts for instruction serving both high school and university partners.

Sue Rearic is the new chief business officer for the Grossmont-Cuyamaca Community College District (California). She has over 20 years of experience and has worked in the business offices at both Grossmont and Cuyamaca colleges.