

Clark College orchestra presents 'A Tour of London'

❑ Concert will feature Julius Klein of the Slovak State
Symphony

The Clark College Orchestra will present its winter concert, "A Tour of London," Wednesday, March 12, at 7:30 p.m., in the Royal Durst Theatre at the Vancouver School of Arts and Academics.

Featured on the program will be the U.S. premier of Antonio Rosetti's Clarinet Concerto in "E," performed by Julius Klein, artistic director of the Slovak State Symphony.

The concert will begin with the Overture to Il Signor Bruschino by Rossini. The second half will be a musical tour of London via Ralph Vaughan William's Symphony No. 2.

Klein studied piano and clarinet during his early years and subsequently attended the conservatory in Kosice as a clarinet major.

He furthered his studies in Bratislava, where he entered the Academy of Musical Arts, graduating with honors. Klein is currently the solo clarinetist and executive director of The Slovak State Philharmonic in Kosice.

The concert is free and open to the public. Donations to the orchestra fund will be accepted at the door.
